

C 2.17

LIBRARY
RECEIVED
★ OCT 4 - 1956 ★
Department of Agriculture

OCTOBER SPECIAL IN CLUSTER TYPE (BI-FOLIATE) SEEDLINGS

Have you discovered the many attractive advantages of the bi-foliate Cattleyas? How rapidly they grow? How early they bloom? How long lasting are those small, waxy, heavy textured blooms? What charming and durable corsages they make? What wide variety of color combinations they produce?

Don't they add that desired "different" note to your collection of big, White, WCL and colored hybrids? During the past year the demand for cluster types has quadrupled. Here is your chance to add seven of them to your collection at very low cost by "growing your own" from seedlings that have outgrown the most vulnerable stages.

- #180 C. HYBRIDA (Loddigesii X Guttata) - Lilac-rose clusters, dotted darker.
In 2-inch pots. Single seedling price.....$2.50
- #181 C. HENRIETTA JAPHET X L. HARPOPHYLLA - Peach, salmon or orange-red clusters.
In 2-inch pots. Single seedling price.....$3.50
- #182 C. AMETHYSTOGLOSSA X SELF - Red-dotted pink clusters. In 2-inch pots.
Single seedling price.....$2.50
- #159 C. SCHROEDERAE X C. GUTTATA - Should be like larger version of Hybrida, with wider color range. In 2-inch pots. Single sdl. price..$2.50
- #751 C. AMETHYSTOGLOSSA X C. ENIDSON - Charming range of four to six-inch pink blooms in clusters. In 2½-inch pots. Single sdl. price.....$5.00
- #760 C. ZACAPA VAR. PEACH GLOW X C. GRANULOSA - Green-yellow to peach with orange in lip. In 2-inch pots. Single seedling price.....$3.50
- #761 C. BICOLOR X C. GUTTATA - Green to brown with rich red-purple lips. In 2½-inch pots. Single seedling price.....$5.00

At the listed prices, the above SEVEN seedlings (5 in 2-inch; 2 in 2½-inch) would cost you $24.50. Buy all seven before October 31st and get them for $16.00!

If you want them shipped out-of-pots, shipping charges prepaid in U.S.
In pots, shipping charges collect or to be refunded.

DANIEL RYERSON, BOX 805, HOMESTEAD, FLA. DATE _____

Enclosed is my check or money order for $16.00 for your OCTOBER, 1956 SPECIAL of seven bi-foliate type seedlings in two and two-and-a-half inch pots. Please ship out-of-pots by Prepaid Parcel Post (in U.S.A.) _____. Please ship in pots by Express Collect _____ or Parcel Post, charges on which I will refund _____.

Signed _____
St. & No. _____
City & State _____

The American Medical Association is a non-profit corporation organized for the purpose of promoting the interests of the medical profession and the public. It is composed of members who are physicians, surgeons, dentists, and other medical practitioners. The Association is organized into various departments and committees, each of which is responsible for a specific area of medical practice or research.

The Association's primary concern is the advancement of the medical profession and the improvement of the quality of medical care. It does this by publishing the Journal of the American Medical Association, which is one of the most widely read and respected medical journals in the world. The Association also sponsors a variety of educational programs and conferences, and it works to promote the highest standards of medical practice.

In addition to its educational and research activities, the Association is also involved in a number of public health and social welfare projects. These include the promotion of preventive medicine, the improvement of hospital care, and the establishment of medical schools and hospitals in underserved areas.

The Association's efforts have been instrumental in the development of modern medicine and the improvement of the health of the American people. Its commitment to the highest standards of medical practice and its dedication to the public good have made it one of the most respected and influential organizations in the medical profession.

The Association's membership is open to all physicians, surgeons, dentists, and other medical practitioners who are qualified to practice in their respective fields. The Association's policies and procedures are designed to ensure that its members are held to the highest standards of professional conduct and competence.

The Association's financial resources are derived from the contributions of its members and from the proceeds of its publications and other activities. The Association's funds are used to support its educational and research programs and to carry out its public health and social welfare projects.

The Association's headquarters are located in Chicago, Illinois, and it has a number of regional offices throughout the United States. The Association's Journal is published weekly, and its other publications and programs are available to its members and the public.

The Association's commitment to the highest standards of medical practice and its dedication to the public good have made it one of the most respected and influential organizations in the medical profession. Its efforts have been instrumental in the development of modern medicine and the improvement of the health of the American people.

The Association's membership is open to all physicians, surgeons, dentists, and other medical practitioners who are qualified to practice in their respective fields. The Association's policies and procedures are designed to ensure that its members are held to the highest standards of professional conduct and competence.

The Association's financial resources are derived from the contributions of its members and from the proceeds of its publications and other activities. The Association's funds are used to support its educational and research programs and to carry out its public health and social welfare projects.

The Association's headquarters are located in Chicago, Illinois, and it has a number of regional offices throughout the United States. The Association's Journal is published weekly, and its other publications and programs are available to its members and the public.

The Association's commitment to the highest standards of medical practice and its dedication to the public good have made it one of the most respected and influential organizations in the medical profession. Its efforts have been instrumental in the development of modern medicine and the improvement of the health of the American people.

The Association's membership is open to all physicians, surgeons, dentists, and other medical practitioners who are qualified to practice in their respective fields. The Association's policies and procedures are designed to ensure that its members are held to the highest standards of professional conduct and competence.

The Association's financial resources are derived from the contributions of its members and from the proceeds of its publications and other activities. The Association's funds are used to support its educational and research programs and to carry out its public health and social welfare projects.

The Association's headquarters are located in Chicago, Illinois, and it has a number of regional offices throughout the United States. The Association's Journal is published weekly, and its other publications and programs are available to its members and the public.

The Association's commitment to the highest standards of medical practice and its dedication to the public good have made it one of the most respected and influential organizations in the medical profession. Its efforts have been instrumental in the development of modern medicine and the improvement of the health of the American people.

The Association's membership is open to all physicians, surgeons, dentists, and other medical practitioners who are qualified to practice in their respective fields. The Association's policies and procedures are designed to ensure that its members are held to the highest standards of professional conduct and competence.

The Association's financial resources are derived from the contributions of its members and from the proceeds of its publications and other activities. The Association's funds are used to support its educational and research programs and to carry out its public health and social welfare projects.